MOBILE CARE GROUP TO OFFER RESIDENTIAL SERVICES Local company expands to include residential 'house calls'

Troy Michigan; December 6, 2011 — Mobile Care Group (MCG) a locally owned and operated company that offers mobile healthcare, has expanded its offerings to include residential "house calls." The healthcare company currently delivers audiology, dentistry, optometry, and podiatry services to residents in long-term care and assisted- and independent-living facilities throughout northern Ohio and Michigan's lower peninsula. Adding residential services to the customer profile is a natural progression in the development of the business.

"We're a mobile company, so technically, we can take our services anywhere there is a need," commented Jim Wallace, Director of Sales - Michigan. "There is a real need for our services because there are many people who just can't get out for such appointments. Bringing services to them is the right thing to do," continued Wallace.

"Expanding into private home care is an important development because people are staying in their homes longer, and these services not only help seniors remain in the comfort of their own homes, they help patients manage their healthcare costs more effectively," says Wallace.

While many other companies bring in physicians from out of state to serve clients, MCG fully supports the local physician community and only contracts with highly qualified area physicians and experienced medical personnel. On average, MCG 's network of physicians sees more than 700 patients per week. Staying "local" is especially important—and reassuring—for people interested in obtaining the best possible healthcare services for themselves or ancillary care for their loved ones.

The way health care is delivered is constantly changing, and with its added services and unique offerings, Mobile Care Group has positioned itself as a single, comprehensive resource for people who want and need greater access to health care — wherever they live and whenever they need it.
